North Africa Lithium Power Energy Storage Project

Overview

Why are African countries exporting lithium ore?

As demand for lithium skyrockets due to its critical role in electric vehicle (EV) batteries and renewable energy storage, several African nations are ramping up production. The increasing demand has led to countries like Zimbabwe and Namibia beginning to export lithium ore, highlighting the region's importance in meeting global needs.

Are battery energy storage systems developing in Africa?

Confirmed development of Battery Energy Storage Systems (BESS) across Africa is still small compared to global projections, says a study. The confirmed development of Battery Energy Storage Systems across Africa is still small compared to global projections – less than 0.5% of the global BESS capacity of 358GW by 2030.

Where is the largest lithium mine in Africa?

Located in Zimbabwe's Masvingo Province, the Bikita Mine represents the largest-known lithium deposit worldwide, with reserves measured at 11 million tons. With operations dating back six decades, the Bikita Mine represents the only major producing lithium mine in operation in Africa, producing an average 60,000 tpa since 1950.

Why is Africa a key player in the global lithium supply chain?

Thanks to its vast lithium reserves and increasing investments in mining and processing facilities, Africa is emerging as a key player in the global lithium supply chain. As demand for lithium skyrockets due to its critical role in electric vehicle (EV) batteries and renewable energy storage, several African nations are ramping up production.

Where is lithium found in Africa?

Africa is home to several notable lithium mines and projects, with countries like Zimbabwe, Namibia, Ghana, the Democratic Republic of Congo, and Mali possessing commercial quantities of this critical resource.

Why is Africa's lithium mining sector a hotspot for foreign investment?

As a result, Africa's lithium mining sector is poised for significant growth, making it a hotspot for foreign investment and technological advancement. The Arcadia Lithium Project in Zimbabwe stands out as one of the world's largest hard rock lithium resources, boasting measured reserves of 42.3 million tons.
