Solar Air Conditioning in Southern Europe

Overview

Summer air conditioning represents a growing market in buildings worldwide, with a particularly significant growth rate observed in European commercial and residential buildings. Heat-driven cooling technol.

What is SACE (solar air conditioning in Europe)?

The SACE (Solar Air Conditioning in Europe) project was initiated in early 2002 and conducted over the next 2 years by a group of researchers from five countries, supported by the European Commission.

Does solar air conditioning save energy?

Conclusions Solar air conditioning has a strong potential for significant primary energy savings. In particular, for southern European and Mediterranean areas, solar assisted cooling systems can lead to primary energy savings in the range of 40–50%. Related cost of saved primary energy lies at about 0.07 €/kW h for the most promising conditions.

Are solar cooling systems economically feasible?

Tsoutsos et al. present a study of the economic feasibility of solar cooling technologies. Karagiorgas et al. investigated the application of renewable technologies in the European tourism industry and identified a large number of solar thermal systems but only a few solar cooling systems.
