What is Spain's battery storage market?

Spain's battery storage market is dominated by customer-sited systems. Utility-scale storage remains nascent. Currently, Spain's storage market is mainly composed of small-scale batteries co-located with solar PV. Spain's household electricity prices now stand at over EUR 0.30/kWh on average.

Does Spain have a zero carbon limit on battery capacity?

Spain has set a zero carbon emissions limit on new build capacity. This limit, alongside the aggressive 2030 storage target, effectively underpins a key role for batteries in the capacity market. Bid prices for batteries in the capacity market will reflect the gap between: returns across the rest of the battery revenue stack.

Should batteries be a 'pay as bid' model in Spain?

As things stand in Spain, batteries will need a significant boost from capacity prices to fill the gap above wholesale, balancing & ancillary revenue streams. The 'pay as bid' structure of the capacity market can help battery assets achieve this.

Can batteries access the balancing market in Spain?

Balancing markets are another key source of battery revenue, but regulatory reform is required for batteries to access the Spanish balancing market. This is likely to happen relatively quickly but creates uncertainty around the level of balancing revenues.

How much does a battery plant cost in Spain?

Battery plants picked up more than 655 MW of capacity in the auction, with a clearing price of £35.79 per kW a year. This volume was dwarfed by the almost 3 GW of capacity awarded to gas plants, which is likely a guide to what will happen in Spain as well.

Are batteries set for a boost in Spain this year?
